Amsterdam, Jan. 24.

THEY write from Paris of the 20th instant, that according to their Letters from Provence of the 12th, the two Armies continued in the same Situation, viz. the French at Puge, and the Austrians at Giace. We hear from Marseilles of the 10th, that two Shebecks loaded with Ammunition had just failed from that Port, bound to Genoa, and that they had likewise several French Officers on board, who were sent to command the Troops there.

St. James's, Jan. 20. The following Address of the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the City of Edinburgh, has been presented to his Majesty by his Grace the Duke of Argyll, being introduced by the Right Hon. the Earl Fauconberg, one of the Lords of his Majesty's Bed-chamber in Waiting: Which Address his Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the City of Edinburgh, beg Leave, in all Humility, to return our Thanks to your Majesty, for your having been graciously pleased, by an open and free Election, to restore to this City the Exercise of their ancient Rights and Privileges, which the late infamous Rebellion had interrupted and destroyed.

In our Election, now confirmed by your Majesty's Royal Prerogative, which has never been used but for the Good of your Subjects, there appeared no Contest, but who were the best affected to your Majesty's Person and Government; and we shall think it our Duty, in Gratitude to our Fellow-Citizens, who chose us, to behave ourselves in all our Proceedings with such Zeal, in Support of your Majesty's Authority, and such a disinterested, unfeigned and unalloyed Attachment to the Constitution, both in Church and State, as to deserve their future good Opinion, and to recommend this City to your Majesty's Favour and Protection.

As the Almighty Providence seems to have reserved to his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland alone, the Restoring the Tranquillity of this Country; we hope the same Activity, Valour and Abilities, which have been so successful against Rebellious Subjects at Home, will also lead him to Victory over your Majesty's Enemies Abroad, the Disturbers of the Peace and Liberties of Europe.

May it please your Majesty,

Your Majesty's most obedient,
Most dutiful and loyal
Subjects and Servants,

The Lord Provost, Magistrates and Council of the City of Edinburgh,
in Council assembled,

Edinburgh, Jan 3,

Sign'd by their Order,

1747.

G. Drummond Provost.

From Wye's Letter, London, Jan. 20.

They write from Plymouth, that the Foremastmen of the Gloucester and Lark will have 500 l. each for their Shares of the Prize lately brought in there.

'Tis confidently asserted, that a Plan is preparing for another Descent on some Part of the Enemy's Coast, which will consume less British Coin, is much deeper laid, to be vigorously executed, and of course become more formidable than our late Enterprize of the same Nature.—A Diversion is even intended by it both in Flanders and in Provence.

The last Letters from Madrid give us no Hopes of a separate Peace, but seem to intinuate that the Afliento will be allowed to a certain Nation, but that their Ships employed in this Trade will carry the Portuguese Flag so long as the War lasts. They say farther, that the new Prime Minister is naturally of a pacifick Temper, and has never shewn any Bias towards France, which renders the new Turn of Affairs more surprizing.

We hear that General Hawley will be created a Field Marshal; he and General Bland being to go abroad with the first Troops for Flanders.

Fresh Orders are given for making the utmost Expedition in fitting out the Transports that are to carry the Troops over to Flanders.

From the London Evening Post, Jan. 20.

Extract of a Letter from Bréda, dated Jan. 17.

The Plenipotentiaries of the several Princes have broke off their Conferences at this Place, and are retired, as their Inclinations or Diversions directed them; but, as their Secretaries cannot afford to follow, we have their Company; and, like those at your Boards, they affect to have as much Knowledge as their Masters, and to be the Fac-totum; so that, in Truth, if you converse with any of them, you have nothing but alternately their different Interests: As for Instance, the Bourbonian Style runs thus: That the Genoese will preserve their Liberty, the Efforts they have made, and which they have render'd successful, in the Cause of Freedom, is an Event that will distinguish them, equal to any Parallel in ancient or modern History: That General Brown, if not already, will be soon oblig'd to pass the Var; and that M. Belleisle will pursue him, so far as to render the Austrian Schemes abortive, and force the King of Sardinia into a neutral State: That Don Philip will carry his Point, in spite of all Opposition, si & armis: That their Army in Flanders will be more numerous than ever, earlier in the Field, and sooner in Action, than the Enemy; and the Siege of Maestricht will open the Campaign. The Gentlemen on the other Side talk quite a different Language: They aver, that the Austrians are re-possess'd of Genoa, and the Tumult there is subdued, by the timely Succours sent to the Marquis de Botta by the King of Sardinia. As to General Brown's marching backwards and forwards, it only evinces that General to be a consummate Statesman; since a short Time will shew the French such a FINESSE in Politicks, that will oblige their Ministry to sue in an abject Manner for Peace on any Terms. What they say with respect to Flanders is mere gasconading; it being certain, that the Army of the Allies will not only be able to cope with the French, but their Activity and Courage will soon oblige them to abandon the Low Countries: And what heightens their Spirits is, that the Duke of Cumberland being Generalissimo, gives them UNDOUBTED Hopes of Victory. Don Philip, instead of acquiring an Establishment by Force, will be obliged to his Britannick Majesty and his Allies for a Provision; and his soliciting them would be the best Step he could take for obtaining it.

L O N D O N, Jan. 20.

Our Advices from Vienna, Warsaw, and Petersburg, all agree, that on the rising of the Grand Divan, now holding at Constantinople, a War will be declared against the Court of Vienna: To this Divan the Great

Cham of Tartary has been invited, which is never done but when some important War is on the Carpet; and as Peace is made with Persia, the best Ottoman Troops in Motion on the Side of Valachia, and the French Remittances very frequent, it is out of Doubt where the Storm will fall.

To obviate this on the Part of the Empress-Queen, Expresses have been dispatch'd to Italy and Provence, to make the boldest Pushes imaginable in the respective Countries against Genoa and France; Forces are gathering together on the Side of Belgrade and Buda; and the Empress of Russia has directed her Generals to have 40,000 Men ready to march into Moldavia.

The Courts of Vienna and Petersburg are not without their Suspicions on the Sides of Sweden and Prussia; and Measures are taken to guard against them, both on the Side of Finland and Bohemia.

We hear that Sir John Ligonier, at present Commander in Chief of the British Forces in Flanders, will be promoted to be a Field-Marshal.

On Friday the Pay of the two Troops of Life-Guards, lately disbanded, was settled by the War-Office, viz. the Officers to have their Pay till provided for in other Regiments; the old Men to have a Shilling per Diem during Life; those that chuse to quit the Service 30 l. and those that chuse to enter into other Regiments 10 l. per Annum till prov'd for.

On Sunday last was married, at St. Bennet's, Paul's-Wharf, the Right Hon. Francis O'Phant, Lord O'Phant, an ancient Baron of North-Britain, to Miss Mary Lingley, of York, a very beautiful young Lady, of great Merit and Fortune: As soon as the Ceremony was over, the new married Lord and Lady set out for his Lordship's Seat in the County of Middlesex.

Yesterday the Court sat at St. Margaret's Hill, when the following Prisoners were arraigned upon Indictments for High Treason, viz. James Stormonth, Charles O'Phant, Henry Moir, Robert Moir and Alexander MacKenzie, who all pleaded Not Guilty; and the Court adjourned till Thursday Morning, when their Trials will come on.

Yesterday the Sessions ended at the Old Baily, when Sir Hector Maclean, Joseph Brouden, John Blaw, Francis Stafford, and John Purser, the State-Prisoners, were order'd to remain.

There is Advice that the famous Don Pedro, Commander of a Privateer of 40 Guns, from the Havannah, that has taken a great Number of British trading Ships, &c. is taken by the Canterbury Man of War, Capt. Hoare, in his Passage from Cape Breton for Antigua.

The Three Friends, Tovell, from Southampton to Jersey, is taken by the French.

The Rose, Capt. Fea, who was taken going from London to Aberdeen, was drove on Shore on the Coast of Norway, but there was not any Body on board.

Most of the Conferences which Count Bathiani held with the Lords of the State, during his Stay at this Place, turned upon the Execution of the military Plan which his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland proposed.

Tho' General Bathiani is, without Doubt, inviolably attached to the Interest of the Empress Queen, and as zealous as possible for supporting the Common Cause, yet he could not help giving in to the Reasons which were alledged by their High Mightinesses, shewing how difficult it would be for the Republick to furnish a Body of 4000 Men at the opening of the Campaign; nor could he disapprove of the Conduct which the States General are desirous of pursuing in the present Conjunction, since they appeared to be so weak, and because of the Proximity of the French Army, against which the Republick could not defend its Frontiers, especially if any Disadvantage should happen to the Allies, either in Provence or the Low Countries. Count Bathiani, upon the Lords of the Government making these Allegations, told them, that for his particular Part he should be content with 100,000 effective Men at the opening of the Campaign; but as an Operation and a Diversion were intended to be prosecuted at the same time, it would be absolutely necessary to have a reserved Corps of at least 20,000 Men, to make Use of as Necessity should require.

L O N D O N, Jan. 20.

We hear that a Messenger brought an Account on Friday, that the Dutch have added five thousand more Troops to those already agreed on.

The following is a Replication to the Answer of Simon Lord Lovat, made at the Bar of the Right Hon. the House of Peers, by Sir William Yonge, viz.

My Lords,

The Commons have considered the Answer of Simon Lord Lovat to the Articles of Impeachment exhibited against him by the Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses, assembled in Parliament, and do aver their Charge against the said Simon Lord Lovat for High Treason to be true; and that the said Simon Lord Lovat is guilty in such Manner as he stands impeached; and that the Commons will be ready to prove their Charge against him at such convenient Time as shall be appointed for that Purpose.

The Call of the House of Commons is appointed for Thursday next, the 22d instant.

Two Men of War are ordered for Portsmouth to convoy the Ships bound for India, as far as the Cape.

As there was yesterday no Account of the Arrival of the India and other Ships from Lisbon, it is conjectured that they steerred for Ireland.

On Saturday the House of a Milliner in Pall-Mall was searched by the Messengers, and several Papers secured, and one Person was taken into Custody.

We hear from Cornwall, that since the taking of his Majesty's Smack, called the Duke of Cornwall, which was stationed at Falmouth, to cruise upon the Smugglers, several Gentlemen have caused Bonfires to be made, and great Acclamations of Joy on that Occasion; by which 'tis reasonable to suggest that they are all Well-wishers to, if not materially concerned in that vile Practice of Smuggling.

The Heft'r Privateer, Capt. Kaisted of New-York, has taken a French Ship off Porto Rico, having on board 550 Hogsheads of White Sugar, and carried her into New-York.

There is an Account that a French Ship from Marseilles, having on Board the Prince of Campo Florida's Baggage, bound to Naples, was taken by an English Privateer, and carried into Leghorn.

Last Thursday died at Hackney, Miss Margaret Dunbar, eldest Daughter of William Dunbar, Esq; Merchant in this City.

E D I N B U R G H, January 26.

We hear from the North, that the Sea Monster, called the Mermaid, (described as having the upper Parts of a Woman, and the lower of a Fish) has lately appeared in the River Doveren.

On Saturday last the Mercury Man of War brought into Leith Road from Berwick Bay, a Ship of and from Borrowtonnes, Mackenzie Master, bound for Holland, with susp. &c Passengers on board. The Master and Crew are Prisoners on board the Man of War, and the Ship is arrested. The Passengers that Afternoon were landed, and brought up to the Canongate Prison, where they were examined, and assumed the following Names, viz. James Angus, (supposed to be David Ogilvy of Peel, who escaped lately from the Canongate Jail) Peter Hay (alias Cameron, alias Chalmers, who at the same Time made his Escape also;) James Wat (alias Mungo Graham) James Campbell and James Jamison; and after Examination about 8 o'clock that Night, were carried to the Castle. — 'Tis not certain, whether upon Information, or accidentally in quest of Smuggling Vessels, the Ship was seized in that Bay by the Man of War; 'tis said the Grounds of Suspicion were, the Ship's not bringing to upon the proper Signal, and, when obliged by a Gun fired at her to comply, the Master's having no proper Clearance to produce to the Captain of the Man of War from the Customhouse. Whether the Names the Prisoners go under be real or fictitious, Time must discover.
